For better service—give the person you're calling time to answer the telephone.

GOODBYE TO "HELLO"
The Army has banned the "hello" habit and has ordered its calls answered by giving the name or department...just as many business houses have been doing for years...a good business practice that saves the time of both the answering and calling persons.

GOODBYE TO "HELLO"

It's the voice of business...

Business is known by the voice that speaks for it. Every time you, or anyone else in your firm, talk to a customer by telephone, something is added to the firm's reputation, either building it up or tearing it down. That's why "telephone courtesy" has become such an important consideration in business today.

A courteous, friendly telephone manner helps any business. It's worth while cultivating.

You'll find it very convenient if you will keep a list of frequently called telephone numbers near your telephone.

PATIENCE PAYS

Thousands of telephone calls are missed every day because the person calling will not wait a second or two longer. It's a good rule to wait that extra second.

Another good rule is to answer a ringing telephone promptly. That too will make fewer missed calls.

And in business a missed call is often a missed order.

Has this ever happened to you?

Let's say
you're baking a cake
or painting a chair
or giving Junior a bath or something like that:
just then,
the telephone rings.
You drop what you're doing,
and you run to the 'phone,
but you're too late.
You make a good try
but someone was impatient.

If it's happened to you,
then maybe we needn't remind you that it's just common courtesy to give the other fellow
time to answer
before you hang up.
You'll save yourself
and the person you're calling
a lot of inconvenience
if you do.

PATIENCE PAYS

Thousands of telephone calls are missed every day because the person calling will not wait a second or two longer. It's a good rule to wait that extra second.

Another good rule is to answer a ringing telephone promptly. That too will make fewer missed calls.

And in business a missed call is often a missed order.

DON'T WHISPER—
DON'T SHOUT!
When you talk over the telephone, you'll find you'll be more easily understood if you talk directly into the mouthpiece—using an ordinary conversational tone of voice.

5 tips

that will help you get better telephone service

1 BE SURE OF THE NUMBER

Telephone numbers have a way of getting mixed up in one's mind. You may save time — and unnecessary calls — by referring to the telephone directory first.

2 TALK DIRECTLY INTO THE MOUTHPIECE

You'll be more easily understood when telephoning if you'll talk directly into the mouthpiece of your telephone — with lips about half an inch away.

3 GIVE THEM TIME TO ANSWER

The person you are calling may not be able to answer promptly. If you wait a few seconds before hanging up, you avoid the trouble of making another call.

4 WHEN YOUR PHONE RINGS, ANSWER PROMPTLY

If you delay in answering, the person who is calling may decide you're not in—and you may miss an important call.

5 IF YOU MAKE LONG DISTANCE CALLS, AVOID THE "RUSH" HOURS You'll speed your service if you'll avoid making long distance calls between 10 a.m. and 12 Noon; 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.; and 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.
